

Marlo T. Miksche

Marlo is an attorney with Hellmuth & Johnson's information technology and e-commerce practice group. She draws on her experience managing and negotiating global enterprise software license agreements, maintenance and support agreements, professional services agreements, SOWs, and SaaS agreements to aid her clients with the licensing and acquisition of software and IT.

Marlo brings a practical business perspective to her work having spent over 20 years working in the corporate sector, and enjoys the combination of business law and technology. In addition to helping her clients with licensing and IT acquisition, she advises companies on privacy and data security issues and negotiates product supply agreements.

A magna cum laude graduate of William Mitchell College of Law, Marlo received CALI awards in contracts, legal research and writing, and civil procedure. She received her undergraduate degree in Chemical Engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). Marlo is licensed to practice law in Minnesota, and is a member of the Minnesota State Bar Association (MSBA) and the Hennepin County Bar Association (HCBA). She has also co-authored an article with Steven W. Roth for Cybaris® titled "A Balanced Approach to Patent Utilization."
