"The best part of my job is helping clients solve issues. They may believe their dispute or problem is unworkable, but often they just need someone to further analyze the issues. I'm that someone. I come up with a well-thought-out strategy that provides them with their best options."

With more than a decade of legal and business experience in the areas of corporate, finance, securities, and real estate law, Stephen provides clients with attentive and professional legal service. He has served as corporate and transactional counsel to a number of successful companies across many different industries and has developed deep technical and practical experience through a variety of business, finance and commercial banking transactions. His clients include banks, investors, financial advisors, businesses, and individuals in both transactional and litigated matters. He relies on his experience and common business sense to provide creative solutions for clients.

Stephen focuses his practice in the following areas of law:

- Lending and finance
- Mergers and acquisitions
- Commercial transactions
- Investment
- Corporate strategy and governance
- Securities
- RIA/Broker Dealer issues

- Real estate development
- Title clearance
- Shareholder litigation
- Employment

Some attorneys get lost in the analysis of minutia that they lose sight of the heart of the matter, common business sense, and the most efficient resolution of an issue. Stephen realizes that there are many ways to solve a problem; he finds that creative solutions often provide the most efficient and beneficial result for the client.

He is licensed to practice in Minnesota and Texas.
